Lesson Overview
The George W. Bush Presidential Center will support student understanding and provide an experiential learning opportunity to transfer student knowledge of government to individual rights for both majority and minority populations. Students will act as both leader and citizen in discussing what rights and freedoms a government supports as well as deciding which freedoms, they believe are worth fighting for.

Students will engage in pre-research, explore the museum exhibit Freedom Matters with primary sources of rights and freedoms, and transfer their learning through critical thinking and creative classroom presentations. Students will learn individually, in pairs, in small groups, and present to their peers.

Assessments
Tasks that can be assessed: research, organizational visual, group visual creation and presentation, leader presentation speech, and citizen presentation speech.

Essential Questions
What freedoms are worth fighting for?
Objectives (Students will...)

- Pre-learning - Acquisition Learning: The George W. Bush Presidential Center will support student understanding and provide an experiential learning opportunity to transfer their knowledge of government and Freedom Documents. Students will engage in pre-research and work in small groups to develop a definition of “freedom”.

- Application learning: From their research and museum experience, students will conduct a gallery walk to complete a worksheet involving Freedom documents.

- Transfer learning: After the museum experience, students will answer a series of questions and create a dinner party scenario.

- Transfer learning: After their museum experience, students will answer a series of debriefing questions in small groups, in writing, or as a large group discussion.

Pre-learning/Acquisition Learning

Introduce students to the George W. Bush Presidential Center and specifically the Freedom Matters Exhibit.

Prepare students for their museum experience.

- Remind students that they share the exhibit space with other guests.
- In the exhibit and library only pencils, phones, or tablets can be used for taking notes.

- Running and excitement are not the same thing.
- This is a “classroom on wheels.”

Prepare students using the following resources:

Gallery 2: Defining Freedom

Essential Question: What is the origin of Freedom?

Consider this question from the perspective of:

- John Winthrop
- John Locke
- Jean-Jacques Rousseau
- Mary Wollstonecraft

Question #1

Think about how the role of religion, politics, philosophy, and gender shaped the life experiences of the individuals highlighted in this gallery. How might these life experiences influence their definition of freedom?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

Question #2

How might _________________________ (choose one individual from the list and write their name) and _________________________ (choose one individual from the list and write their name) view freedom differently? Write your answer here:

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

Gallery 3: Securing Freedom

Essential Question: What do free societies look like?

Background:

The featured artifact in this gallery is a version of the Magna Carta. From the Magna Carta emerged the principles of limited government and rule of law.

Question 4:

This means

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

One of the most important, and often quoted, provisions of the Magna Carta, number 39, resembles that part of the U.S. Constitution found in Amendments 5 and 14.

39. “No freeman shall be seized, imprisoned, dispossessed [deprived of his land], outlawed, or exiled, or in any way destroyed; nor will we proceed against or prosecute him except by the lawful judgment of his peers [equals], or by the law of the land.”
Question 5: Look up the 5th and 14th Amendments. Quote key elements from both amendments that were influenced by Number 39 of the Magna Carta.

5th Amendment: ______________________________________________________________

14th Amendment: _____________________________________________________________

The men who later wrote and adopted the U.S. Constitution as well as its Bill of Rights were clearly influenced by some of the ideas found in the Magna Carta.

The ideas of limited government and the rule of law have been adopted by many countries. Leaders in some countries ignore these rules. And in some countries the rules don’t apply. What follows are some activities that outline different forms of government, some of which promote freedom and some that do not. Look for evidence of the Magna Carta as you work through these activities.
Activity 1: Ranking

As you explore this gallery, think about the extent to which laws are obeyed. To complete the chart, locate a specific document, person, or event found in Galleries 2-5 that represent the idea and rank each concept in a column according to its importance, with 5 most critical for inclusion and 0 could be eliminated from the Preamble. Ranking numbers can only be used once.

What was the reason for ranking the 0 choice as low?

What was the reason for the one ranked high?

Activity 2: Analogy

Prepare an analogy sentence for describing the importance of the Declaration of Independence, selecting one of the following items to use in your analogy: Key, Hole Punch, Tweezers, Battery, Flashlight, Ruler, Rubber Band, Glue Stick, Highlighter, White Out. Fill in the blanks of the stem sentence to show how the item is similar to the definition of the type of government. Write this sentence in the column marked “analogy.”

Stem Sentence:

________________________________________ is like ____________________ because _______________________.

(Term from chart) (Item) (Explanation)

Example: Democracy is like a battery because it is the people that POWER the government.
Gallery 4: The American Experiment

Essential Question: What are the challenges to and the successes of securing freedom in the United States?

Activity 3: A Dinner Party

A dinner party has been planned for the following individuals. Your task is to decide who sits at which of the two tables. Each table will sit six individuals. At each table, the dinner guests will discuss a topic of your choosing. Each dinner guest will bring a gift (artifact from the exhibit) that they will explain to the others. Complete the diagram as you learn more about the people and artifacts of this gallery.

Possible individuals include:

- Senator Stephen Douglas
- Frederick Douglass
- Abraham Lincoln
- Sojourner Truth
- John Locke
- Alexander Hamilton
- Harriet Beecher Stowe
- Harriet Tubman
- James Madison
- Elizabeth Cady Stanton
- Susan B. Anthony
- King George III
- Thomas Jefferson

Possible topics include:

- Closing the gap between the ideas of the Declaration of Independence and the sometimes painful realities of American life.
- Taking a risk to practice the ideas of American Freedom.
- Civil conversations with people who have diverging views.
- Women's rights and how they have evolved and what still needs to be done.
- How civil rights have changed and expanded for multiple groups.

Complete the following without repeating or duplicating names and topics.

I would most like to sit between __________________________ and __________________________ discussing the topic of __________________________. Between the two gifts (artifacts) each brought, the one that most intrigues me is __________________________. To learn more about this gift (artifact), I would talk with _________________________ at the table discussing _________________________.  If I was sitting with _________________________ I would get a very different view of _________________________ than were I sitting with _________________________.  Conversely, if I were sitting with _________________________ , he/she would want most to introduce me to _________________________ because of their view of _________________________.

Post Assessment/Debriefing

Freedom Matters Debriefing

On paper or in small group discussion format have students answer the following questions:

1. If you had to rescue two artifacts from the exhibit, which would they be and why?
2. What ideas or areas are still unresolved for freedom?
3. What are 3 ways to keep freedom alive and participate in that process?
Student Worksheet
